The Fulton School Enriches its Educational Curriculum With Additional Advanced Placement Courses

HEATH, TEXAS, June 29, 2011 — The Fulton School, a private college preparatory school dedicated to igniting a lifelong passion for learning, inspiring self-discovery, instilling civic leadership, and motivating each student to continually pursue excellence, has expanded its Advanced Placement (AP) courses to include AP Calculus AB and AP Physics. These additions bring the total AP offerings to 10 courses including English Composition and Literature, English Language and Literature, Statistics, Comparative Government and Politics, American History, Environmental Science, Studio Art, and Chemistry.

“The Fulton School’s growing assortment of AP courses enables our students to complete one semester of college credit before graduation, further enriching the value of the education they receive. We offer small class sizes and big opportunities,” shared Matthew Burgy, Fulton’s head of school.

While public schools throughout the state face drastic budget cuts that may lead to ballooning class sizes, The Fulton School remains steadfast in its policy of no more than 16 students per class in order to ensure a highly individualized level of attention for each child. In fact, last year the school averaged an impressive 8:1 student-teacher ratio. In addition to a remarkable academic experience, The Fulton School offers an array of extracurricular activities including robotics, athletics, scholastic competitions, the National Honor Society, and community service initiatives.

“Fulton’s attractive value proposition led to a 38 percent increase in our student body during the 2010-2011 school year, and we’re projecting continued growth for our upcoming school year,” Mr. Burgy said.

The Fulton School is currently enrolling students for its 2011-2012 school year which will begin on August 17. Families can attend an open-house Preview Day on Saturday, July 30 from 10:00 a.m. until noon or schedule a private tour by calling 972.772.4445.
